in 1949 the year of the berlin airlift and the founding of the two post war german states elisabeth kusian nurse black marketeer morphine and methamphetamine addict and pathological liar garroted and dismembered two people in a mini crime spree her actions both fascinated and terrified the public how could this woman a nurse commit such a violent act west berlin detectives attempted to run an efficient investigation under new democratic rules their east berlin counterparts newly structured along soviet lines employed their restricted resources to solve the case and prove the advantages of their socialist system both tried to use the investigation to demonstrate their distance from the third reich and build a brighter future based on the true story of elisabeth kusian death in the rubble explores shifting identities evolving gender expectations post fascist politics and norms and the violence lurking beneath a city struggling to redefine itself an examination of the final period of nazi rule in germany s eastern provinces at the end of the second world war it outlines the wartime role of this region and assesses the impact of nazi popular mobilisation initiatives during the closing months of the conflict from intimate portrayals of ordinary germans and nazi leaders to immersive spectacles of war and defeat this study argues that since 1990 german film has focused on portraying the nazi past from within in 2015 germany agreed to accept a million syrian refugees the country had become an epicenter of global migration and one of europe s most diverse countries but was this influx of migration new to germany in this highly readable volume jan plamper charts the groups and waves of post 1945 mobility to germany we are all migrants is the first narrative history of multicultural germany told through life stories it explores the experiences of the 12 5 million german expellees from eastern europe who arrived at the end of the second world war the 14 million guest workers from italy and turkey who turned west germany into an economic powerhouse the gdr s vietnamese labor migrants and the 2 3 million germans and 230 000 jews who came from the soviet union after 1987 without minimizing racism we are all migrants shows that immigration is a success story and that germany has been and is one of the most fascinating laboratories on our planet in which multiple ways of belonging and ethnic national and supranational identities are hotly debated and messily lived
